Help our troops call home

More than 150,000 troops are serving overseas and are away from their families. Cell Phones for Soldiers and the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma are calling on all Americans to support these brave men and women by donating your unused cell phones.

"We're asking Americans to make a small sacrifice of support by donating their unused cell phones, providing families with a much-needed connection to their loved ones overseas," says Brittany Bergquist, Cell Phones for Soldiers co-founder.

Local residents can support the collection drive by donating their phones at the Choctaw Nation headquarters, 16th and Locust in Durant.

"We're proud to show our support for U.S. soldiers, and to contribute to a worthy cause like Cell Phones for Soldiers," says Chief Greg Pyle.

Cell Phones for Soldiers was founded by teenagers Robbie and Brittany Bergquist from Norwell, Massachusetts, with $21 of their own money. Since then, the registered 501c3 non-profit organization has raised almost $1 million in donations and distributed more than 500,000 prepaid calling cards to soldiers serving overseas.

"We have been overwhelmed by the generous support of thousands of Americans who have helped our troops speak with their loved ones," says the teens? father, Bob Bergquist. "However the need for support keeps growing as more soldiers are sent to the Middle East or are asked to serve extended tours of duty." Through increased fundraising efforts, the Bergquist family hopes to raise more than $9 million in the next five years to fund new programs, such as providing video phones and prepaid service to allow soldiers abroad to see their families on a regular basis. The phones are sent to ReCellular, which pays Cell Phones for Soldiers for each donated phone – enough to provide an hour of talk time to soldiers abroad. Approximately half of the phones ReCellular processes are reconditioned and resold to wholesale companies in over 40 countries around the world. Phones and components that cannot be refurbished are dismantled and recycled to reclaim materials, including:

New Stigler Community Center opens

Chief Gregory E. Pyle, Assistant Chief Gary Batton and Councilperson Charlotte Jackson welcomed scores of Choctaws, community officials and friends to share a special day in Stigler. On April 3, a ribboncutting ceremony marked the opening of a new 8,000-square-foot community center on Highway 9, adjacent to the Choctaw Nation Clinic and only a short distance from the Choctaw Nation Head Start.

The facility features a stateof-the-art kitchen equipped with commercial appliances, a spacious meeting room, and ample office space for tribal social programs. Haskell County residents will have much easier access to program information and services.

Billy certified to teach Choctaw language

The Choctaw Nation Tribal Council held its monthly regular session on April 12 at Tushka Homma.

New business kicked off with presentation of a Choctaw Language Teacher Certificate to Nicole Holitopa Billy. Nicole, a former Sr. Miss Choctaw Nation, is a student at Southeastern Oklahoma State University, Durant. She will graduate this month and is competing for a position as Choctaw Language Instructor at the University of Oklahoma, Texas Governor Rick Perry pins a third star on Lt. General Leroy Sisco as Frances Sisco and Lt. General Charles Rodriguez look on.

Sisco receives third star

Major General Leroy Sisco received a Brevet Promotion to Lt. General, with his third star pinned to his epaulets by his wife, Frances, and Texas Governor Rick Perry. In a ceremony at Camp Mabry in Austin, Texas, General Sisco said he was honored to be surrounded by friends and family, and was humbled to share the stage with Governor Perry.

Although retired from the Texas Guard, General Sisco's remarkable career both in the military and in civilian life led to the rare decision of being promoted after retirement from the service. He graduated with a Bachelor of Science Degree from Abilene Christian University in 1967, but began his military career while he was still in high school. During his first three years as an enlisted soldier, in the 36th Infantry Division, he rose to the rank of Sergeant and was selected to attend Officer Candidate School.

General Sisco was commissioned a Second Lieutenant Infantry in 1965 and was inducted into the Infantry OCS Hall of Fame in 1995. His military experience spans command positions from Company to Assistant Division Commander, 49th Armored Division. He has served in a variety of joint and combined assignments that included major staff positions with the 71st Troop Command. He became Commander of the Texas State Guard on March 8, 1997 and was inducted into the Honorary Reserve in April 2003.

In his civilian career he is CEO of the Military Warriors Support Foundation and one of the owners of Texas Trophy Hunters. General Sisco served on The National Guard Association of Texas Board of Directors for six years and on its Executive Board for five of those years. He served in various offices during this time and was President in 1996. He is currently serving on the Executive Board of the Choctaw Code Talkers Association. He has an Honorary Doctorate of Military Arts and Science from the Texas Military Academy. The National Infantryman's Association presented him with their highest award, the "Primicerius" Order of Saint Maurice in 2002 and the Mayor of Laredo named him an Honorary President of the Republic of the Rio Grande in 2000.

General Sisco's awards include the Legion of Merit, Meritorious Service Medal, Army Commendation Medal, Army Achievement Medal, National Defense Service Medal, Army Service Ribbon, Lone Star Distinguished Service Medal, Texas Outstanding Service Medal, Texas Medal of Merit, Adjutant General's Individual Award and numerous other awards. Also in new business, Councilmembers voted to approve modifications to two Council Bills. They also agreed to submitting applications to the U.S. Department of Education Vocational Rehabilitation Services Project for American Indians with Disabilities Grant and to the Department of Health and Human Services for continuation of the Choctaw Nation Adolescent Family Life Program.

Disposal of surplus equipment and other items through a public auction was also approved.

The Tribal Council meets at 10 a.m. on the second Saturday of each month in the Council House on the Capitol grounds.

2008 Youth Day at the Capitol

On March 31, Choctaw Nation Youth Advisory Board members visited the Oklahoma state capitol for a youth day event in support of the Social Host Bill SB1530. Youth from across the state joined to make their issue heard on the state level.

Choctaw Nation YAB members came from Pushmataha County – David Batton, Severt Dahl, Marvin Dahl, Katherine Goodman, Gabby Brumm, Nicole Gilliam; Pittsburg County – Ariel Miller, Faith Woody, Cherish Wilkerson; Latimer County – Rosie Statham; McCurtain County – Erica Martinez, Frankie Abboushi; and Leflore County – Sara Janway, Tyler Davis, and Kayla Branning, along with their local Area Prevention Resource Center Representative Alicia Mass, Leslie Haltom, Robbie Mullins, and Choctaw Nation Healthy Lifestyles' Kristi Adams, Shonnie Hall, and Martina Hawkins.

The youth visited with their local legislators as well as other county legislators to get the word out. Rep. Brian Renegar, District 17, also recognized the group on the house floor during an afternoon session. Some students were even asked a few questions by the TV network OETA and the Oklahoman.

SB1530 adds low-point beer to Oklahoma's Social Host law and has stiffer penalties to hold adults accountable for purchasing alcohol for minors. This bill has been recommended by the Governor's Task Force on Underage Drinking and endorsed by the Oklahoma Prevention Policy Alliance. The youth will be holding Community Briefings on Underage Drinking Prevention all over the state.

His last assignment was Chief of the Military Support to Civil Authorities Section, where he prepared and maintained plans for providing military assistance to civil authorities during emergency situations.

Retired from the military, but not from life, Woolridge and wife Mayselle have made their home for the last 31 years on 286 acres west of Okemah, Oklahoma.

"We built this house, the buildings, the fences, everything," Woolridge says as he gazes out a window framing a small orchard and green pastureland. Mayselle has served coffee and is quietly clipping coupons from the Sunday paper.

"We had a garden until a couple of years ago. We were always busy, always doing something." The couple still climb on their gator every day to go check on 100 head of cattle.

Dear Chief Pyle,

My sincere appreciation for your acknowledgement by letters and certificate of honor sent to my granddaughter, Kristin N. Houser, on receiving an Aerospace Engineering Degree. Her graduation day is May 3, 2008. After interviewing with several companies, she accepted a position with United Space Alliance located in Houston, Texas. Her position will be involved with the ascension and descending of the space shuttle.

I wish to thank the Higher Education Scholarships for providing financial assistance to Kristin for the past four years.

Searching for Bell family member

Dear Choctaw Nation,

I am looking for Rebecca or Rehba Marie Bell. She was born in Talihina in 1927. She has one daughter and supposedly lived nea Fort Sill at the time. I know that is a long way away but maybe someone remembers the family. Her mother was Weah-hina-ah and her father was Charlie. She had a brother named Jack and a sister. I do not know her sister's name. It is very important that I find her as soon as possible. Any information will help. Please call me at 701-572-0650 or e-mail me at asbrekke@wil.midco.net. Shirley Marie Brekke

Proud of Choctaw heritage

Dear Chief Pyle,

I have always been grateful for the things Choctaw Nation has accomplished over the years, but I have never been more proud of my heritage when I read about how you helped the Reserve Units. My husband is U.S. Army Bomb Squad and has been in Iraq since April of last year. Bomb squad units are extremely small, under 40 soldiers, and it was hard watching them leave. I cannot imagine what it is like to be a part of such a large unit. It means so much to me and my 3-year-old that people other than family members are concerned and taking time to send care packages. Even though it was not my husband's unit, it was a part of our extended Army family. I miss my husband and hearing my daughter say she wants to go home with Daddy breaks my heart, but knowing what you have done makes it a little easier. Your actions mean a lot to the deployed soldiers and this deployed soldier's family. We pray for his safe return. Thank you for making me the proudest Choctaw tonight.

Help appreciated through difficult year

Dear Choctaw Nation,

Thank you so very much for helping me with my utilities last year and this year. Life has been difficult and your help is very much appreciated. I would also like to thank you for the birthday card every year, the nice calendars you send, and for the Christmas cards and beautiful Christmas ornaments you send at Christmas time. I think it is wonderful that you do this. My grandmother on my mom's side was very proud to be Choctaw and I think she would be very proud of how you help people.

The Choctaw-Irish connection

Dear Choctaw Nation,

Though I have, of course, heard of you people before, it was not until today that I learned of the connection you have with my country and my people, the Irish. I feel embarrassed by this fact as I am 28 years old and I find it hard to understand how I could not have known of this before, but I am fascintated and thankful to know now. On the train to work this morning, I was reading a book of short stories written by Irish writers. I began "The Outfielder, an Indian Giver" by Blanaid McKinney, a story in which the two main characters go to America, one to research the Choctaw tribe.

I am overwhelmed by what your tribe did for my ancestors. I feel the need to express my deepest thanks for the remarkable act of generosity your ancestors showed to mine.

Help honor the Code Talkers!!

From the Desk of Chief Gregory E. Pyle

Help is needed from Choctaws across the United States so that legislation can be passed in the United States Congress to recognize the original Native American Code Talkers. The Assistant Chief and I are currently working with members of the U.S. Senate and U.S. House of Representatives to pass a bill that will make it possible to issue medals for service as a Code Talker. We had 40 meetings in two days during the most recent trip to Washington, D.C., to ask for support for legislation to honor Code Talkers from all tribes.

Congressman Dan Boren has introduced HB 4544, which currently has 100 co-sponsors. We need 289 co-sponsors to this bill, and many Congress-people need to hear from someone who lives in their district before they will agree to sign on. Senator James Inhofe has introduced S 2681, and it currently has 25 co-sponsors. We need 67 co-sponsors on this bill. All Senators and Congress-people from Oklahoma have signed on, and now we need to gather support from the other 49 states.

Native American language being used as code was made famous by the Navajos in WWII. Their service was recognized with medals in 2000. However, members of other Native American now, before the children's generation is lost. HB 4544 and S 2681 allows a gold medal to be presented to each tribe, with a silver duplicate medal presented to individual Code Talkers or their families. Bronze medals will be sold by the United States Mint, and all costs will come from the revolving fund for such activities of the Treasury, with no appropriations necessary.

Please contact the Congress-people and Senators who represent you and ask them to support these bills as a co-sponsor. The honor is long overdue.

Websites offer films and gift shop items

From the Desk of Assistant Chief Gary Batton

The Choctaw Nation continues to improve access to information for tribal members around the world. A couple of new features available on the Internet are choctawstore.com and choctawcinema.com. The Choctaw Store has clothing, blankets and novelty items for sale, and the Choctaw cinema site has some films you may find interesting about the Choctaw Nation and the Code Talkers.

I also encourage you to go to the official website, choctawnation.com, to see updates on what is happening in the tribe. Currently, the Chief and I are asking for help from people across the United States - we need you to contact your Senators and Representatives and ask them to co-sponsor legislation to award medals to Indian Code Talkers.

Two hectic days were recently spent going office-to-office talking to Congressmen and Senators from several states. We met with no negative comments about HR 4544 or S 2681, yet all of the offices wanted to hear from constituents within their state. This is where you come in. Please look over the information that Chief Pyle is sharing with you in his column and help the Choctaw Nation in this important effort.

Our thoughts and prayers for the month of May are for mothers. "Happy Mother's Day," and may the Lord bless you in a very special way.

Jesus Christ lived the highest moral life. He had compassion on the people. He taught as no other man had ever taught. Many of the people loved Him. But the religious and political leaders were jealous of Him, and they determined to put Him to death. They held a mock trial and then took Him before Pilate.

Rev. Bertram Bobb Tribal Chaplain

One group accused Jesus of blasphemy against God, and another group accused Jesus of treason against the Roman emperor. Pilate knew the charges were false.

But Pilate wanted to stay on the good side of the people. (Read Mark chapter 15). He offered the people a choice.

On this particular feast day, one criminal was always set free, and the people could choose which one would be freed. One criminal was a murderer, an evil man. His name was Barabbas.

Pilate said to the crowd, "You choose, will it be Jesus or Barabbas? Whom do you want freed?" (Mark 15:9). The people shouted back, "Give us Barabbas! We want Barabbas! Crucify Jesus! Crucify Him!" (Mark 5:11, 13-14). And they kept shouting.

That choice is still before us today. Barabbas or Jesus.

Barabbas represents all the power, all the pleasure, all the money, all that the world has to offer.

Jesus represents our conscience, our hearts, our love, our salvation, our forgiveness, our humility, our faith in God. Who will you choose, Barabbas or Jesus? Every person has to make that choice. Do you want Barabbas or Jesus?

Pilate took a bowl of water and washed his hands. He said I am washing my hands of Jesus." (Matthew 27:24).

Then the soldiers came; they took Jesus - Who was already weakened because of the scouring and the loss of blood - and they beat Him again. They put a crown of thorns on His brow, they put a reed in His right hand; and they paid mock homage to Him. Everything was done to Jesus to shame Him. They stripped Him of His clothes. They spit on Him. They struck Him. They made Him carry a cross on His back, but the cross was so heavy and He was so weakened and they compelled a man to carry that cross for Him.

His blood flowed as they pounded nails into His hands and a spike through His feet; they put Him on that cross. That was one of the cruelest ways that a person could die. Sometimes a person would hang there for days dying a slow death.

Jesus wasn't dying as an ordinary man. He was dying as the Son of God, carrying the sins of the whole world. He bore your sins and my sins on that cross.

Jesus had already prayed that if it were God's will, the cup of suffering would pass from Him. (Matthew 26:39). But Jesus met the pain that He could have escaped. With open eyes He greeted death.

The soldiers cast lots for His garments, as the Scriptures had predicted. (Matthew 27:35). The soldiers and the people did not realize it, but it was Jesus Who was guarding them against the onslaughts of evil and the devil. He was dying for them.

Jesus said, "Father, forgive them. They know not what they do." (Luke 23:34)

The crowd challenged Jesus, "... If thou be the Son of God, come down from the cross." (Matthew 27:40). It was not human weakness that kept Him on the cross. Jesus had said in John 10:18-19: "... I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father."

Jesus could have saved Himself. He surrendered willingly and obediently with a sense of divine purpose.

What was His purpose? The purpose of His death had been told time after time in the Old Testament. Man had sinned and broken God's laws. And the penalty for breaking God's moral Law is death - physical and spiritual death – judgment and hell. Every one of us has to pay that penalty unless someone who is qualified pays it for us. And Jesus Christ is the only One Who is qualified. He did not commit sin. He did not do anything evil.

From the cross we realize that there is one word that comes over and over - Love, Love, Love. Jesus Christ loves you, and He is willing to forgive you of all your sins. In Romans 5:8 we read:

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us."

That's why Jesus Christ died on the cross - He died for the sins of the world. God laid on Him all your sins and all my sins.

Jesus said in John 8:34: "... Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin." We say that we want to be free from certain things that we are doing and know to be wrong, but we cannot free ourselves. We are hooked. Christ can free us, if we will let Him.

If you will come to Him, He will open His arms and receive you because He loves you. What do you have to do? You have to repent of sin. That means you say to God.

"I'm sorry that I have sinned. I am willing to change my way of life. I can't do it myself. I have tried and tried and I have failed. God, I am a sinner, I receive you right now into my heart."

The Spirit of God will help you to change. Will you accept Jesus Christ as your Savior today.

May God bless you. Pray for our Native American people. Pray for America.

The month of May is also a Memorial month. Our Choctaw people remember both our loved ones now and ancestors on the "Trail of Tears." Pray for the men and women in the Armed Services ... defending our country.

Diet and cancer risk

It's been estimated that the combination of poor diet and obesity cause nearly a quarter of all cancers worldwide, second only to tobacco use. Add to this the fact that most dietary factors that help lower the risk of cancer also lower the risk of heart disease, stroke, and diabetes, and the importance of a healthy diet becomes even more pronounced. The Harvard School of Public Health reports the following:

Focus on fruits, vegetables and whole grains, and minimize meat.

One of the most consistent findings to emerge from research on diet and cancer is the importance of eating a plant-based diet. Fruits, vegetables and whole grains are rich in vitamins and minerals, and are generally low in saturated fats and calories - all of which may help lower the risk of certain cancers. Even though recent findings show that fruits and vegetables as a whole may not reduce risk to the extent once thought, certain fruits and vegetables still likely offer some protection. Also important is cutting back on red meat, which has been linked to both colon and prostate cancer.

Drink alcohol in moderation. if at all.

While alcohol has clear benefits for the heart, it's also been shown to increase the risk of many cancers. Because of this and the potential for abuse, people who don't drink alcohol should not be encouraged to start. However, most people who already drink moderately (less than one drink a day for women and less than two for men) probably don't need to stop.

Take a daily multivitamin.

On top of a healthy diet, a daily multivitamin can provide added protection against a number of chronic diseases, including cancer. Studies have found a strong link between folate and a reduced risk of colorectal cancer, and vitamin A and certain carotenoids (some of which act as antioxidants) have been linked to a slightly lower risk of breast cancer.

Don't worry about total fat intake.

Despite popular belief, there is very little evidence that total fat intake is linked to cancer. Some types of fat, though, may be important: there is evidence suggesting that a high intake of monounsaturated fat may lower the risk of breast cancer, and a high intake of animal fat may increase the risk of prostate cancer.

Mind the calories and be more active.

Weight gain and obesity are well-established risk factors for numerous cancers and are inextricably linked to diet and physical activity. As obesity rates in the United States rise each passing year, tackling the epidemic of weight gain becomes increasingly critical to the nation's health.

Social change is needed to reinforce individual behavior change.

In our Internet-based, super-sized society, it's important that a healthy diet and regular physical activity remain goals for everyone. The greatest impact on disease, however, comes when such individual changes are supported by changes in society at large, such as better sidewalks for walking and healthier offerings in school cafeterias. Only through the synergy of such changes can the true potential of healthy lifestyles be reached.

Your target heart zone

How fast should I walk? How much incline should I use on a treadmill? How much resistance should I apply on a stationary bicycle? The answer to these questions is: whatever it takes to stay within your target heart zone. The appropriate heart rate range for each individual is based on the person's age, level of fitness, exercise goals and personal preference. To determine what is right for you, first calculate your maximum heart rate by subtracting 220 - your age. Next select the range that meets your needs. If you have never exercised, or haven't for months or years, start with the 55 percent - 70 percent range.

To calculate this, simply multiply your maximum heart rate by .55 and .70. This should feel easy enough to carry on a conversation while exercising. The primary energy source for this low intensity exercise is fat, but the rate of calorie burn is slower, so the exercise must be maintained for a longer duration to achieve weight loss.

If you are a habitual exerciser or feel ready to progress from the 55 percent - 70 percent range, the 70 percent - 85 percent range is the zone for you. Multiplying your maximum heart rate by .70 and .85 will provide you with the limits for your target heart rate. This is the aerobic zone and will likely cause you to "huff and puff" a little. Training at this intensity improves your aerobic capacity and cardiovascular fitness level. Unless your fitness level is very high, it will be difficult to sustain this intensity for more than 30 minutes. This is appropriate for someone with limited time to exer-intensity exercise. To take your pulse while exercising, place your left index and middle fingers over the right wrist radial artery (located on the front of the wrist on the thumb side). Count your pulse for 15 seconds and multiply this number by 4 to determine your heart rate in beats per minute.

Don't want to mess with calculations? At the Choctaw Wellness Center, all of our cardio machines (treadmills, elliptical trainers, recumbent bicycles and stair climbers) will perform the calculations for you and let you know if you are staying within your target zone.

Simply start with the enter button (don't press Quick start). The machine will prompt you to enter your age (among other things) to calculate your maximum heart rate. As you exercise, grasp the chrome heart rate sensors. Your heart rate will be displayed and the flashing light will let your know which zone you're in. The yellow zone is the 55 percent - 70 percent range and the green zone is the 70 percent - 85 percent range. To speed up your heart rate, increase speed, resistance or incline (depending on which machine you're on). To slow down your heart rate, decrease speed, resistance or incline.

Note: Certain medications will suppress your exercise heart rate, invalidating the use of heart rate to measure intensity. The most common of these medications are beta blockers used for treatment of high blood pressure. Tenormin, Toprol, Lopressor, and Inderal

Lean meats as part of a healthful food plan

Lean meats, poultry and fish can be important contributions to a tasty and healthful diet. Some of the key nutrients that are abundant in meat, poultry and fish are:

∠ PROTEIN

Protein builds and repairs body tissues. The amino acids that are the building blocks of protein are arranged in our bodies to make up the many structural and functional proteins that give us our human form and functions.

B-vitamins ∠

The various B-vitamins have many roles in the body, but all are important to keeping the energy pathways in our cells moving. Without the Bvitamins, our body can't properly use the energy we take in from carbohydrate, protein and fat.

⊔ IRON

Iron helps to make the important blood molecule called hemoglobin. Hemoglobin carries oxygen to all of our body tissues, including our brains! Imagine, no iron - no oxygen – no thinking – not a good scene!

ZINC ∠

This trace mineral is actionpacked! Not only does zinc have a role in many energy pathways in the cells of the body, it also helps to protect these cells against damage from damaging oxygen radicals.

凶 MAGNESIUM **∠

This important mineral helps keep bones and teeth strong and healthy.

Preparation is key to maintaining healthful aspects of meat. Be sure to trim visible fat. Try baking, broiling, roasting or microwaving instead of frying, and drain off extra fat after cooking.

Car Seat Safety

By Becky Clay AFL Technician

An infant car seat is critical to keep your baby safe. No matter how tightly you think you can hold your baby, if you have an accident, your baby could be thrown from your arms and badly hurt.

An infant carrier is not the same thing as a car seat and will not protect your baby in the car. Car seats for older children are not safe for newborns. Your baby needs an infant safety seat with a fivepoint harness. If you don't have one, ask your home visitor to help you.

The Choctaw Nation Adolescent Family Life (AFL) Project is an innovative pro-

• Read the labels on your car's seat belt or sun visor.

• Follow the directions on how to install the infant facing backwards and firmly secured. The car seat should be angled slightly backwards so baby's head does not flop forward. Try a rolled towel tucked under the front of the car seat to tip it back a little.

• An airbag can kill your baby, even if she is in a car seat.

• Follow the directions on how to put your baby in the harness. Adjust it to be snug. If the straps are twisted or the harness is missing your baby will not be safe.

• If it's cold outside, put baby in the harness first, then add any covers.

gram focused on pregnant teenagers, their child, male partner and extended family members. The AFL program provides opportunities for a brighter future through integrated services within the Choctaw Nation and external agencies. Participants will expand their knowledge through prenatal healthy relationship skills and parenting workshops.

Striving for healthy outcomes in Adolescent Family Lives is the purpose of our program. Services are provided through Choctaw Nation Outreach Services to pregnant Native American teens under 19 years of age or otherwise qualified through an eligible Native American.

Healthy Marriage/Healthy Kids Project

Bill and Gwen TakesHorse honored at annual pow wow

The Healthy Marriage/ Healthy Kids Project, sponsored by ANA, honored Bill and Gwen TakesHorse at the 5th Annual Veterans Pow Wow in Talihina on March 8. Following is their story.

The Gwen version:

Bill and I met in August 1974 at Bacone College in Muskogee, Oklahoma, when I was looking for a tall person who could spike a volleyball to be on my team. Bill was this quiet, shy person ... I was not. Although that was not the beginning of a whirlwind romance, we were in several intramural and independent sports competitions together and kept running into each other, talking, learning about each other's tribes and becoming good friends. We ran around in the same group but dated other people, then realized we got along better with each other. All my life I have been known for picking up strays ... dogs, cats, snakes, etc. ... so on December 21, 1975, at 7:30 a.m., I decided to keep my newest stray. I got him to marry me at sunrise when he wasn't quite awake so he couldn't back out on me. So as of this past year, we have been married for 32 of the best years of his life.

What's kept us together? We moved to Montana right after the wedding breakfast. Bill was going to school at that time and we lived in a town that was not near any relatives. We had to get along because we were the only ones we knew. I couldn't run home to mom and dad ... too far away.

My parents were both educators. Dad worked in Adult Education for many years and the one thing he noticed when he went to the meetings was that so many women were single mothers. Many of these women had lost a husband in Vietnam, been killed in an accident, or had just walked out. Regardless, these women had no education, ing. You learn what that means run home to Mama. Also your and many lived in poor rural crazy (just ask Bill) and your ly be at your house. You have areas. Dad instilled in both my kids learn to drive. sister and me that we should get our college education first and then get married because that is something that no one can take away from you and we could support ourselves and children if need be. And yes, all three of us (brother, too) have degrees. Bill and I have two children -Adam, 28, and Tana, 24. Adam is not married yet but wants to someday. Tana is married and one of the things we told her was to get a college education before she got married and when she got married, to move away from the families. She received her bachelor degree in 2006 and in 2007 married Vinny Cleamons. They live in Fort Gibson ... close but still away from the family.

Gwen and Bill TakesHorse are honored for their 32 years of marriage.

Healthy Lifestyles Recipe of the Month

Family Swiss Steak

(makes 6 servings)

- 2 Tbsp. unbleached all-purpose flour
- 1/2 tsp. crushed dried thyme
- tsp. sweet paprika 1/4
- 1 1/2 lbs. boneless beef round steak, cut 1 inch thick
- 1 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
 - Canola oil cooking spray
- lg. garlic clove, peeled and thinly sliced
- 2 med. celery ribs, thinly sliced
- 2 med. onions, peeled and thinly sliced
- 4 med. plum tomatoes, thinly sliced
- cup reduced-sodium 1/2canned beef broth

In a small bowl, combine flour, thyme and paprika. Using a pastry brush, brush steak pieces with Worcestershire sauce. Dredge in flour mixture.

Lightly coat a large nonstick skillet with cooking spray. Place on stove over medium-high heat. Add steak pieces and brown on both sides, about 5 minutes per side.

Transfer steak pieces to a 3-quart or larger crockery slow cooker. Top with garlic slices, celery, onions and tomatoes. Pour beef broth over the top. Do not stir.

Cover and cook on low for 8 to 10 hours or on high for 4 to 5 hours.

To serve, transfer steak pieces and vegetables to a heated serving platter. Spoon any pan juices over the top and serve at once.

Happy birthday

T.D. Hibben of Shawnee celebrated his 93rd birthday on April 19. The youngest T.D. Hibben, Thomas Dean Hibben, helped celebrate. Young T.D. was born on January 9, 2008. Mr. Hibben celebrated with friends and family and a fun time was had by all.

65th anniversary

Guy and Nora Lois Neal of Lawrence, Kansas, celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary in March. The couple was united in marriage on March 25, 1943, at McAlester. Guy's mother, Sophie Alexander, was an original enrollee. Attending the event were four of their five children, Dwayne Neal and Dayna Hunter of Olathe, Kansas, Patty Lancaster of Augusta, Kansas, and Janice Lynn Toth of Kansas City, Missouri. Not attending was their youngest son, James Neal of Rawlins, Wyoming. The children brought gifts and took their parents out for lunch. It was a good day had by all.

Guy and Lois also have 11 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. The Neals are longtime residents of Lawrence. Guy attended Haskell Indian Institute from 1937 until 1940, when he entered the Army with the unit from Haskell. After World War II, Guy attended and graduated form Panhandle A&M College in 1950. Guy worked for Williams Natural Gas Pipeline at the Lawrence division and retired in 1982 as the district superintendent.

To the Youth of the Nation

Submitted by Severt Dahl, YAB Vice-Chair

Senior year is full of choices. The choice of what college to go to, what deadlines they need to meet, and what scholarships they qualify for, but one thing some people don't think about is their choices after high school, the ones that are made when most of us are out on our own. The choices we make during our years in college, vo-tech, or whatever other plans you may have, can and sometimes will affect you in your future career.

Nobody is perfect, so we don't always make the best of choices, but one thing you should always consider before you make the choice to either stay at home or your dorm and study, or go out and party all night is this, "How will this affect my future?"

Truth is, either one of these choices can greatly affect how your future turns out. The thing is whether you want to believe it or not, these decisions will follow you the rest of your life. It will mostly show by how good or bad you did in your academics.

During high school, I know for sure, not everyone always makes the best of choices on how to spend their time. So I can only imagine that after high school, when most of us are out on our own, that some choices are just as bad if not worse. But not everyone makes those choices. There are those who make their decisions based on how it will affect them later on in life, like the choice to be an upstanding person in your community.

Like I've said, everyone has their own choice on what they do, and how they spend their time. I'm not saying you're a bad person if you make some bad choices. Everyone makes the wrong decision sometimes, everyone makes mistakes, and anyone who wants to bad enough can change no matter what anyone says.

So to the Senior Classes of 2008.....Congratulations, and Good Luck next year with building your future careers.

Cheyenne Neal and 'Socks' take top honors

Cheyenne Neal of Jones Academy 4-H Club captured the top honor of Grand Champion market swine at the 2008 Pittsburg County Jr. Livestock show held at the Southeast Oklahoma Expo, February 27-March 1 in McAlester.

Cheyenne and her 247-lb. barrow named "Socks" placed first in Class IV hampshire and was selected as Breed Champion hampshire, and Grand Champion overall. There were more than 400 swine entries from 14 fourteen different schools located in Pittsburg County competing for this title.

Cheyenne's pig, "Socks," was bred and raised at Jones Academy. This is the fourth straight year a Jones Academy student has won the title of Grand Champion market swine at Pittsburg County Jr. Livestock show. Jones Academy 4-H Club qualified 16 of the 42 premium sale slots at the 2008 Pittsburg County Jr. Livestock show.

Jones Academy 4-H club would like to give special thanks to Chief Pyle, Asstistant Chief Batton and the Choctaw Nation Tribal Council for their continued support of livestock premium sales.

Colungo participates in state geographic bee

Jones Academy student and Choctaw member Christopher Colungo participated in the Oklahoma State Geographic Bee at the University of Oklahoma in Norman on April 4. The event was organized by the National Geographic Society and sponsored by Plum Creek. The contest was open to students from all over the state in grades 4-8. Chris was representing the Hartshorne School District after winning the schoolwide competition in February. He is a seventh-grader at Buzidragis Junior High and the son of Michael and Christy Colungo from Ada.

The Geographic Bee competition consisted of eight preliminary rounds with 20 participants in each category. Chris had five perfect rounds in which he answered questions about the United States, plant and animals not native to this country, comparative issues between countries of the world, physical geography, and odd item out.

Sharon Johnson, Chris' geography teacher and sponsor, reported that she and Chris worked hard and spent long hours preparing for the competition. She stated, "This is the first year that Hartshorne has entered the Geographic Bee and we are extremely proud that Chris made it to the state level. He did a good job representing the school and Southeastern Oklahoma."

Healthy Lifestyles brings March Against Meth program to several schools

Choctaw Nation Healthy Lifestyles brought the March Against Meth Program to several schools this year. These schools include Heavener, Howe, Albion, Tuskahoma, Hugo, Hartshorne, Haworth, Idabel, Tushka, Caney, Atoka, Farris, Harmony, Lane and Stringtown. Healthy Lifestyles has been involved with this program since its first year.

March Against Meth started in 2006, to honor law enforcement officers that lost their lives in the line of duty as a direct result of someone's bad judgment to use methamphetamine. This year was in memory of Trooper Matt Evans and Officer Jeff Rominger.

Methamphetamine is a very addictive stimulant drug that activates certain systems in the brain. It is referred to by many names, such as "speed," "ice," "crystal," "glass," etc. It is taken orally, needle injection, smoking or by snorting the powder. Abusers become addicted quickly, needing higher doses and more often.

Methamphetamine is health hazard at many different levels. It increases the release of dopamine, which stimulates the brain cells, enhancing mood and body movement. Even small amounts can result in increased wakefulness, decreased appetite, increased respiration, rapid heart rate, irregular heartbeat, increased blood pressure, and hyperthermia. Other effects may include irritability, anxiety, confusion, convulsions, cardiovascular collapse and death. Long-term effects may include paranoia, aggressiveness, extreme anorexia, memory loss, visual and auditory hallucinations, delusions, and severe dental problems.

Healthy Lifestyles would like to say a big thank you to all those who helped make this program a success! Those involved are OHP Officers Rock Green, Brad Dansby and Mike Green and Troopers Davies and Caldwell; OSBI agent Donnie Long; Valliant House Counselor Kelly Brown; District Attorneys Laura Wallis and Jeff Smith; APRC representatives Leslie Haltom, Alicia Mass and Rachelle Fisk; Pushmataha County Sheriff Deputy Jason Thomas and Leflore County

Sheriff Dept., Jeremy Emmert; Choctaw Nation Lifetime Legacy Jeanie Jackson and Lisa Rusher; Drug Task Force agents from McCurtain, Choctaw and Pushmataha counties; Drug Court Coordinator Angie Marcum; Pittsburg/McIntosh County Drug Court Judge Bill Layden. And a special thank you to those who shared a persona story: Justin Kirkes, David Lalli, Kim Salsmen, Brittany Clark and Ashley Stewart.

OBITUARIES

Marie Edwards Boudreau

Mary Lee "Marie" Edwards Boudreau passed from this earth on October 16, 2007, at the age of 105. In just two short weeks she would have been 106. She was born November 5, 1901, in Antlers, Choctaw Indian Territory, in a small house that exists no more. The daughter of Thomas Benjamin Edwards and Minnie Dyson, Marie was one of the few remaining original enrollees of the Choctaw tribe alive during Oklahoma's Centennial year and is featured in the Centenarian book, "Salt of the Red Earth."

Marie, "Mamaw," is greatly missed. Her love and devotion to her family are legendary.

Her father, Thomas Benjamin "T.B." Edwards, came from Texarkana, Arkansas, where his father, Henry Clay Edwards, owned a sawmill and was, on one occasion, held at gunpoint by outlaws to build a coffin for their mortally wounded comrade while T.B. watched. Marie's earliest memory was of her mother being gravely ill after childbirth. Her Papa hitched up the wagon and took his wife, Minnie; his newborn son; Marie; and her older sister, Emma, on a three-day wagon ride, camping out and asking for water at farmhouses on the way to the doctor where Minnie and the newborn died shortly thereafter. Unable to work and care for his young daughters, T.B., who was a carpenter, turned to Minnie's sisters for help. The sisters kept the girls as long as they could but it proved to be a hardship hitching up the horses and driving several miles to school and back, especially in the winter. Marie and Emma were placed in boarding school, at first in Antlers, then at St. Agnes Convent in Ardmore, where they lived for several years.

Marie was in the first grade when Oklahoma became a state. In later years Marie recounted her days in boarding school. "I was only six years old and it was really hard to learn how to write 'Oklahoma' after having to only write 'I.T.' It wasn't so bad since my sister was there to help me get dressed in the morning. We didn't get to sleep in the same room, though. We wore white blouses, dark blue skirts, bloomers, and high lace-up boots with garters. When I got to go home on holidays, Papa would sing to me in Choctaw."

T.B. remarried and Nora proved to be a loving stepmother. Marie told us, "She shopped with me for the best flower sacks to make my underpants (I was 14 before I got a store-bought pair), and she taught me how to sew."

Sometime after 1914 Marie moved to New Mexico with her father and stepmother, where she was treated for tuberculosis for two and one-half years. When she recovered, the family moved to Purcell where she attended school and met her future husband, Albert Francis Boudreau, a French Canadian who came to Oklahoma with his family at the age of 6 in a covered wagon.

Albert tormented Marie by putting her braids in the inkwell on her desk. This led eventually to their marriage in 1919. Their first baby, a daughter, died only a few days after birth. Two years later their daughter, Betty Sue, was born. Marie and Albert moved to Oklahoma City in 1927 where they were active in the Catholic church. They were also avid square-dancers and sought-after Bridge players.

After Albert's death in 1955, Marie moved to be near daughter Betty and son-in-law Earl Pitzer. She held several jobs over the years including catering for the Civic Center, dietary supervisor for St. Anthony's Hospital, and housekeeper and cook for a parrish priest. However, Marie considered her most important position to be grandmother, "Mamaw," to her two grandchildren, Carole and Al. Eventually her grandchildren grew up, were married, and had children and grandchildren of their own, and Mamaw found herself caring for several generations. An excellent seamstress, she sewed countless clothes, she babysat, she cooked many meals (her specialty was "good meat"), she listened to lots of children, gave sound advice, and prayed a multitude of prayers for the family she loved.

Leonard Lucas Argo

Leonard Lucas Argo, 96, a longtime Coal County resident, passed away March 14, 2008, in Atoka. He was born April 23, 1911, in Davis to Louis Martin Argo and Hautie May Willis.

His father, Louis, was born in 1885 in the Choctaw Nation and was adopted by Dr. William G. Argo and Emma Johnson Boxley. His mother, Hautie May Willis, was born in 1890 at Wayne County, Tennessee, to John A. Willis and Ella Robinson Willis. The Willis family migrated to Murray County, Oklahoma, in 1905.

Leonard's parents were married June 10, 1910, at Davis and lived there until 1920 when they made the move to Coalgate with Leonard and his three sisters. The family moved to Tucson, Arizona, in the mid-1920s, but returned to Coalgate by the early 1930s. Leonard's mother and his sister, Mary Ella, had both died from tuberculosis in Arizona. His father died in 1944.

Leonard married Lillian Burgess and they had five children, Laverne, Shirley, Margaret, Barbara and Leonard Marcus Argo. In 1947, Leonard married Eva Inez Farley and they had two children, Glenda Jo and Gary Wayne. Leonard worked for International Harvester in Fort Worth, Texas, until his retirement in 1972. He returned to Coalgate with his wife, Inez, and they lived out their lives there near their children. Besides raising their own children, Leonard and Inez also raised three of their grandchildren, Janice Reese, Cody Hickman and Carlos Argo.
