Recovery Center celebrates with ribboncutting

The Choctaw Nation has just opened the newly constructed Recovery Center in Talihina. The Recovery Program is now able to offer services to 20 clients at the live-in program.

Prior to the ribboncutting, Ben Brown, Deputy Director for the State of Oklahoma Substance Abuse Program, complimented the Choctaw Recovery Program and facility, saying, "We have nothing this nice in the State of Oklahoma." Brown went on to say, "When you come to a program like this, you see great things – miracles happen, lives are restored and families are put back together."

"We think of chemical dependence as a treatable illness, and want to provide appropriate care so that lives can take a more positive direction," said Chief Gregory E. Pyle. The Chief thanked the 12 Tribal Council Members for their support of tribal programs. "These people work to get services to tribal members who so desperately need them."

Chief Pyle said services at the Recovery

Center were at no cost to any Choctaw who has a need for the program. The tribe even provides transportation assistance to Talihina for Recovery Center clients.

The new Recovery Center has two nice exercise rooms with equipment, a group room for men and a second group room for women, each with televisions, personal living quarters shared by two clients, counseling rooms and state-of-the-art kitchen and information technology departments.

Darrell Sorrells, the Director of the Recovery Center, said that he and staff had visited other facilities prior to the final design to get opinions on what worked well and what floor plans could be improved. "I don't think you could design a facility that would be more usable," said

Native American individuals who need help to recover from alcohol or substance abuse can receive care and treatment at the Choctaw Recovery Center in Talihina. For more information, please call (918) 567-2389.

Choctaws help McCurtain County Genealogical Society with gift of $1,500

A check for $1,500 was presented March 4 to the McCurtain County Genealogical Society from the Choctaw Nation. The money was presented to Society Board Members by Tribal Councilman Hap Ward and State Representative Jerry Ellis. The Genealogical Society is based in Idabel at the public library. Contributions of family books, research material and other items pertaining to genealogy have enriched the society's archives since their 12-member inception in 1984.

Although many of the acquisitions were generous donations, the McCurtain County Genealogical Society has also purchased a great deal of material to assist families and individuals. "We bought micro film, consisting of federal census of several states, Indian Territory and the Five Civilized Tribes, applications and roll numbers, marriage licenses and death records and county newspapers back to 1904," writes Nela Hall, a member of the society. "We have bought micro film readers,

Hay donated to Navajo tribe

The Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma has recently donated surplus hay to the Navajo reservation. The hay was greatly needed because portions of the reservation in Arizona and New Mexico had not had enough rainfall to produce enough hay to support its livestock. The Council agreed to send 500 surplus round bales of hay to the Navajo res-

All the Navajos needed was to find a way to transport the hay to their tribal members. On March 11, the first truck was stacked with 34 round bales of hay to be sent to the Navajo reservation. Jody Waugh and Doyle Bacon quickly loaded up the trailer and soon had the hay headed to its final destination.

So far, the Navajo reservation has received 126 round bales of hay, approximately 63 tons.

Whether it is sending surplus hav to the Navajo reservation in 2005 or sending money to the Irish in 1847, the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma has always taken great pride in being able to help people in need.

Top JOM programs honored

"JOM ... Uniting Tribes in 2005" was this year's theme for the Oklahoma Johnson O'Malley Conference, held March 21-24 at the Marriott Southern Hills in Tulsa. Each year during the weeklong conference, top JOM programs are recognized from each of the Five Civilized Tribes during a banquet held in their honor. The first place artwork used with this year's theme was designed by Choctaw tribal member Amanda Boyer. Amanda is a senior at Comanche Public School. All of the artwork submitted by students was reproduced as placemats for participants to enjoy at the banquet.

Sixty-eight schools participate in JOM within the Choctaw Nation, with a total of 8,640 students enrolled in the program. Chosen as having the exemplary program for 2004-05 was Wright City Public Schools.

"The Choctaw Nation appreciates all of the JOM programs in the Choctaw Nation," said Chief Gregory E. Pyle, "and are proud to honor Wright City for its hard work in providing for the needs of our young people. Their dedication to the education of our youth is to be commended."

Council allocates funds for summer basketball camps

The Choctaw Nation Tribal Council allocated funds in the amount of $50,000 to fund basketball camps in each of the 12 districts during its meeting on March 12 at Tushka Homma. The annual camps are one way the tribe supports its youth, encouraging physical activity and providing an opportunity for the boys and girls to improve their skills in the sport.

In other new business, Councilmembers agreed to appropriate $1,500,000 from Motor Fuel Tax Funds to meet the needs of Contract Health Services, making it possible to provide additional health care services for Choctaw tribal members.

The cost of $20,000 for proposed renovations to the Stringtown Casino was approved and will include downsizing the restaurant and providing a larger variety of gaming

Grant applications were okayed for the Tribal Victim Assistance Program, VOCA/Adult Protective Services, Faithbased Counseling for Crime Victims, School Emergency Response & Crisis Management, Demonstration Grants for Indian Children, a BIA Drug Court Discretionary Grant and Adolescent Family Life Demonstration Grant. Also a grant proposal was approved for the Projects With Industry (PWI) program under the Department of Education's Office of Special Education and Rehabilitation Services.

The agenda also included:

- lists of budget modifications approved for the Upward Bound Math and Science budget, Vocational Rehabilitation budget, and PWI budget,
- providing a revolving line of credit for Choctaw Archiving Enterprise, and
- approving a right-of-way on Choctaw-Chickasaw tribal land in McClain County in favor of McLeod USA Telecommunications Services Inc.

The Tribal Council of the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma meets at 10 a.m. on the second Saturday of each month at Tushka Homma.

Program helps with continuing education

Dear Mrs. Rita Workman and the Choctaw Nation,

I would like to thank you for giving me the opportunity to attend school at Kiamichi Technology Center in Durant. I would also like to give a special thanks to Chief Gregory E. Pyle and Assistant Chief Mike Bailey for having a program that helps Native Americans to attend a technology center or trade school. I will never forget what you have done for me.

Luella Hurd

Searching for information

Dear Editor,

I am searching for Mitchell Frazier. If anyone has any information, please contact Edith Bitsoi, P.O. Box 261, Chinle, AZ 86503.

Student dreaming of becoming a teacher Dear Choctaw Nation,

I wanted to write and say "Thank You" to the Choctaw Nation for all its help. The financial aid that's being given to me is helping me to carry out my dream of becoming a teacher. I am ending my second year of junior college and will move on to a university in the fall.

Researching heritage

Dear Editor,

I am searching for information about Nettie A. Robinson, born March 14, 1889 or 1890, and died October 1, 1932. She was married to Ray Tom McGee and had twin boys, Edward and Melvin, born either one or nine miles east of Caddo; a daughter, Sue; and son, Ray Tom Jr.

Nettie was said to board Indian men and is supposed to be buried in Wilburton, Oklahoma. She lived in the McAlester, Krebs and Wilburton area. If anyone has any information, please contact Jan Hill, 4641 NW 60th St., Oklahoma City, OK 73122; phone 405-721-5777; or e-mail rdhill@edensalon.com.

Seeking information

Dear Editor,

I am trying to locate Douglas Earl Tabor's e-mail address. He did some research of the Tabor/Tubb families: George Tubb, born between 1730-1740 in North Carolina, died about 1803 in Pendleton County, South Carolina. He married Mary (Choctaw Indian name), born 1755 and died about 1802 in Pendleton County. For years, I had been trying to find more information about Mary and her family, her parents and brothers and sisters, if any. George and Mary were my sixth great-grandparents. George was in the Revolution War. Their daughter, Susannah Tubb, married William Tabor (my fifth great-grandparents). I was told that Susannah was a hero, but haven't been able to find any proof about her as well. If anyone has any information, please contact M.C. Forister of Austin, Texas, mcforister@netzero.net.

Pursuing master's degree

Dear Choctaw Nation,

I am writing to express my deep appreciation for Larry Wade and the Choctaw Nation Higher Education Office. I first learned about the scholarship program during my freshman year at the University of California, Los Angeles. The money I received was a tremendous help throughout my four years at UCLA.

I graduated from UCLA in 2002 with a degree in political science. I am currently working on my Master's Degree in Early Childhood/ Elementary Education at Teachers College, Columbia University. I hope to teach third grade upon my completion.

I am extremely grateful for the financial help I have received over the years, but I also feel lucky to be part of such a great community that cares so much about their members. Receiving the monthly newsletter helps me to feel connected not only to my tribe, but also to my family who are so far away in California and Oklahoma.

Selena Corley

Program provides invaluable aid

Dear Choctaw Nation,

It is with the utmost gratitude that I express my thanks for the Nation's assistance in my completion of a MA Special Education at the University of New Mexico in May of 2003. The Higher Education program provided me with invaluable aid in completing my studies in a timely manner, while also lessening the financial burden of educational loans upon the completion of my degree.

I am happy to say that I am now in my fifth year as a middle school special education teacher. It is my hope that I can help all students to realize their unique potential, not only in terms of academics, but in becoming good and caring people in this world. Know that your assistance has helped to make this possible.

Membership staff urges baby's information be sent in as soon as possible

It is important that you obtain your child's Certificate of Degree of Indian Blood (CDIB) as soon as they are born. Also, if you have a junior or senior in school, please apply for his/her CDIB and Choctaw tribal membership cards today.

For first-time applicants, the original state birth certificate is required. Copies are only accepted on those who already have his/her CDIB. In order to obtain your Choctaw photo membership card, we must have a state birth certificate on file.

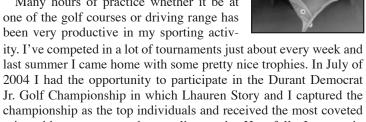

If your CDIB was issued before 2001, we may not have a copy of your state birth certificate. If you have applied and had your picture taken for the photo identification card, we must also have a copy of the state birth certificate to complete the application. This is to ensure that the person receiving your photo ID is the person in the picture.

Sometimes it takes a while to obtain all that is needed to process an application. We follow federal regulations when issuing a CDIB so if we write a letter requesting information, it means we do not have all that is needed.

Golfer appreciates support

A lot has happened since I started golfing two years ago this month. My goal one day is to be a professional golfer. My name is Cody Blaine. I'm 13 years old, a member of the great Choctaw Nation and very proud of my Indian heritage.

Many hours of practice whether it be at one of the golf courses or driving range has been very productive in my sporting activ-

prize with our names on the traveling trophy. Hopefully, I can retain the trophy this year. I've done a lot of traveling and met some really nice people, playing good games here in Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Florida. In July of last year, I qualified to go to Walt Disney World Resort in Orlando, Florida, to the third annual National Native American Junior Golf Championship with some other golfers from the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations. In my age division, I placed first – also one of the most prestigious is the trophy for being the Overall Champion at this NAJGC - and brought back the team trophy for the Choctaw

During Christmas break in December, I was very fortunate to be invited to the Doral Public Junior Golf Classic in Miami, Florida. This is an international event, the world's largest junior golf tournament. It annually attracts a field of more than 600 junior golfers from all around the world. There were 45 states and 38 foreign countries represented this year. In my division I placed tenth out of 69. I was the only one from Oklahoma representing my state and the Choctaw Nation. I feel very proud to have had this opportunity to be a part of this event.

I would like to thank Chief Greg Pyle, Assistant Chief Mike Bailey, members of the Tribal Council and my family for all the generous support you have given me. I appreciate all of you very much.

Outstanding student

Michael Walden, son of Jana and Gary Arrington, brother of Ryan and Shawn Walden, and grandson of J.R. and Aileen Wilson, graduated May 2004 from Comanche Oklahoma High School as valedictorian and is currently a student of engineering at the University of Oklahoma. 2003 and served as a page to Senator Daisy Lawyer in Spring 2004. ## Honor student in New Mexico

Amanda Sue Wilcox of Milan, New Mexico, has been named to the Dean's Honor Roll at New Mexico State University. Amanda, 19, is studying for her nursing degree. When she's not busy with school studies she enjoys competing in barrel racing, helping her community and spending quality time with her family. She is the daughter of Jerry and Susie Wilcox and the granddaughter of Bill and Edith Walker and of the late Gordon and Hariett Wilcox, all of Milan. She is also the great-great-granddaughter of original enrollee Lee Hamilton Dillard of Atoka, Oklahoma. Amanda gives a lot of credit to the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma for helping young students like herself in funding part of their education and would like to thank everyone involved in this program for all of their help.

Wright City co-valedictorian

Trey Crosby is one of seven students chosen as this year's valedictorians at Wright City High School. Trey is the 19-year-old son of Chester "Booger" Jr. and Jane Crosby of Wright City. He is the grandson of the late Chester and Eva Crosby and of the late Teat and Bessie Williamson.

Important to teach Choctaw heritage to younger generations

The tiny hand of my newborn grandson curled around my finger the other day, and as I gazed down at him, my personal vow was reinforced to make the Choctaw language and history more accessible. I have complete faith that my daughter and son-in-law will make sure that Gabriel Anton knows the one true God and will also ensure that his academic education is provided for. I want the opportunity available to him to learn about his tribal culture, as well.

The Choctaw Nation continues to expand the language program so that all Choctaws can read it, hear it, speak it and understand it, if they choose. Classes are free of charge on the Internet in an interactive format. Choctaw Language is an accredited course via video-conferencing at public schools, colleges and universities, and is taught in many communities by teachers who have been certified by the Tribal Council and the Education Program of the Choctaw Nation.

During her days at the Wheelock Academy government boarding school, my mother was punished for speaking her native language. Because of this prevalent course of action by the BIA officials and teachers, that generation was the last of Choctaw speaking households in many families. Perhaps this personal story is one reason that it is so important to me that our language does not die. Books now available in Choctaw include a definer, children's books, a dictionary, hymnbook and Bible.

In addition to teaching the culture and heritage of our great tribe through books, there are also activities that people can watch and participate in to experience dance, song, history and tradition. The Commemorative Trail of Tears Walk on April 23rd at Skullyville is an excellent chance to acquaint your family with a portion of Choc-

The Trail of Tears Walk is held each year to pay homage and show respect to our ancestors who were forcibly removed from Mississippi to Indian Territory. It is amazing that the strength and fortitude of our forefathers enabled them to create a prosperous life here in Oklahoma in spite of appalling conditions, unprecedented weather and dreadful losses.

The Walk begins this year at the historic Skullyville Cemetery, resting place for many Choctaws who survived the northern route of the Trail of Tears. Just a few miles across the Arkansas state line, the Skullyville area was settled by many of our relations from that era. The word "iskuli" is Choctaw for money, and since this was where annuities were paid, the name of the town became Skullyville, roughly translated as "money town".

There is very little parking area at the lovely old cemetery, so cars will be left at the Choctaw Community Center in Spiro, where a complimentary lunch will be served following the four mile commemorative walk, and shuttles will be provided from the center to

Other annual events where the Choctaw heritage is spotlighted include the Labor Day Festival at Tushka Homma, the California Choctaw Gathering in May and the Veterans Ceremony in November. Special activities throughout the year that are hosted by the tribe often include prayer and song in Choctaw, exhibition dancing and sharing of history through stories.

It will be a rewarding moment in the future to hear any of my grandchildren greet me in the Choctaw language, or to read a school report they have written on the history of the first tribe to be removed to Oklahoma – our great Choctaw Nation!

New coliseum and rodeo arena host to numerous events

I was privileged to spend Easter morning in the newly opened Choctaw Coliseum, listening to God's word amongst about 7,000 other Christians. Hope through the Resurrection of Jesus is the most uplifting of messages told through the Bible and I am always encouraged anew when I hear it.

The word "Easter" only appears once in the Bible, in Acts 12:4, and is actually the result of a mistranslation of the Greek word for "Passover." I am thankful that the Easter celebration here in the Choctaw Nation and in the United States centers around the life that is offered through Christ.

Various recreations are already scheduled at the Durant Choctaw Coliseum, which is located next to the casino. Some of the upcoming activities are Durant High School Graduation, Booger Barter Productions, rodeos, a youth gospel concert, the annual Texoma Medical Center concert featuring Reba McIntire, Buz Post Barrel Race and the Wyatt O'Hern Production Horse Sale.

Although I look forward to attending the future programs on the schedule, I will always be thankful that the first activity I attended at the Coliseum was such a blessed event.

Chaplain's Corner

By the Rev. Bertram Bobb, Choctaw Tribal Chaplain

One of the amazing things in the Bible is how much time Jesus spent in prayer.

Today many people regard prayer as a tradition. We use prayer as a formality. We pray only in times of need - danger, job, fi-

So fervent were the prayers of Jesus that once after He had prayed, one of His followers asked Him, "Lord, teach us to pray." (Luke 11:1). They knew that Jesus had been in touch with God, and they wanted to have this experience. What a privilege to pray. We can change the course of events if we prayed believing prayer.

Jesus gives us assurance that God answers every true believing prayer. Here is His promise in John 15:7, "If you abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what you will, and it shall be done unto

Let the Holy Spirit help you in your prayer life as He promised, "... He that searcheth the hearts knowest what is the mind of the Spirit, because He maketh intercession for the saints according to the will of God." (Romans 8:27).

If you don't know how to pray, start now by saying, "God be merciful to me a sinner. I trust Jesus as my Savior.'

Ask God to forgive your sin, transform your life and make you a new person. He can do it now in answer to your prayer. He will open new horizons of spiritual victory for you and add a new dimension

The more we abide in Him and grow to be like Him, the more of His priestly life will work in us. Our lives will become what He is – a life that continuously prays for people.

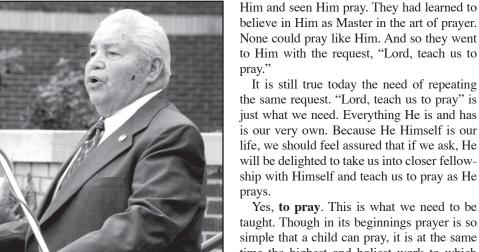

The place and power of prayer in the Christian life is too little understood. As long as we view prayer simply as the means of maintaining our own Christian lives, we will not fully understand what it is really supposed to be. But when we learn to regard it as the highest part of the work entrusted to us, we will see that there is nothing we need to study and practice more than the art of praying.

God wants to hear every prayer of faith. He wants to give us whatever we ask for in Jesus' Name. God intends prayer to have an answer, and no one has yet fully imagined what He will do for the child who believes that his prayer will be heard. God hears prayer.

Many think that they don't have the power to pray in faith an effective prayer that accomplishes much. The blessed Lord Jesus is waiting and longing to teach them this. May He open our eyes to understand the holy ministry of intercession to which – as His royal priesthood - we have been set apart. May He give us a large and strong heart to believe what mighty influence our prayers can have on a person's life or an event. And may all fear of not being able to fulfill our ministry vanish as we see Jesus, living eternally to pray – living in us to pray.

The disciples had learned to understand the connection between Christ's life in public and His secret life of prayer. They had been with the purchase price of $12,000.

Him and seen Him pray. They had learned to believe in Him as Master in the art of prayer. None could pray like Him. And so they went to Him with the request, "Lord, teach us to

It is still true today the need of repeating the same request. "Lord, teach us to pray" is just what we need. Everything He is and has is our very own. Because He Himself is our life, we should feel assured that if we ask, He will be delighted to take us into closer fellowship with Himself and teach us to pray as He taught. Though in its beginnings prayer is so simple that a child can pray, it is at the same time the highest and holiest work to which man can rise. Prayer is fellowship and holiest work to which man can rise. Prayer is fellowship with the Unseen and most Holy God. It is the channel of all blessings. It is the secret of power and life not only for ourselves, but for others, for the church, and for the world. It is to prayer that God has given the right to take hold of Him and His strength. It is on prayer that the promises wait for their fulfillment. How slothful and unfit we are for this blessed work.

Only the Spirit of God can enable us to do it right. How quick we are deceived into resting in a form of prayer, while the power is still

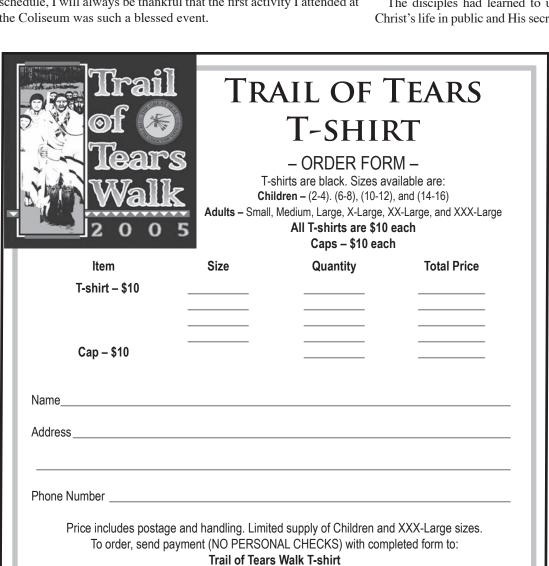

We have read in the Bible about the power God's believing people had long ago when they prayed, and what mighty wonders were done in answer to their prayers. This took place in the Old Testament. We have heard the promises given to the Apostles of the power of prayer in His Name. We know for certain they can become true to us too. We hear even in these days, the power He still gives to those who trust Him completely. Lord, teach us to pray with power, too!

It is true we have God's word with its clear and sure promises, but sin has so darkened our mind that we don't always know to apply the Word. In spiritual matters we do not always seek the most important things. In temporal matters we are still less able to use the wonderful liberty our Father has given us to ask for what we need.

Even when we know what to ask for, so much is still needed to make prayer acceptable. It must be to the glory of God, in full surrender to His will, in full assurance of faith, in the Name of Jesus. All of these truths must be learned. It can only be learned with much prayer. Practice makes perfect.

May God bless you in a very special way in your prayer life is my prayer. I shall meet you at the Throne of Grace.

Today, I ask you to join Native Americans to pray for Native American Nations. Pray that their spiritual eyes would be opened, so that they might come to believe in the only One who offers them a truly supernatural transformation through faith. Pray for the United States of America and the world. Pray for our leaders for wisdom, strength

Small steps lead to big rewards

Diabetes prevention is proven, possible, and powerful

Studies show that people at high risk for type 2 diabetes can prevent or delay the onset of the disease by losing 5 to 7 percent of their body weight. You can do it by eating healthier and getting 30 minutes of physical activity five days a week. In other words: You don't have to knock yourself out to prevent diabetes. The key is: small steps that lead to big rewards.

Reducing portion size is a very important aspect when focusing on weight reduction and controlling your blood sugar. Here are some very helpful and easy steps to follow:

- Less on your plate.
- Keep meat portions to 3 ounces (about the size of a deck of cards).
- Try not to snack while cooking or cleaning the kitchen. ▶ Try to eat sensible meals and snacks at regular times
- throughout the day.
- Make sure you eat breakfast every day.
- Share your desserts.
- When eating out, have a big vegetable salad, then split your entreé with a friend.
- Drink a glass of water or other "no-calorie" beverage ten minutes before your meal to take the edge off your appetite.
- Select healthier choices at fast food restaurants (baked, grilled, broiled, and salads).
- It takes 20 minutes for your stomach to send a signal to your brain that you're full. Eat slowly.
- You don't have to cut out the foods you love to eat. Just cut down on your portion size and eat it less often.

Healthy litestyles

A great first step to a healthier family is to include five to nine servings of fruit and vegetables each day. A healthier family is also on the move, so include at least 30 minutes of moderate activity every day, such as walking. These simple changes are easier than you think and help to improve your entire family's

Easy steps to a better quality life

Encourage your family to help make the grocery list and prepare dinner. That way, everyone can select his or her favorite fruits and vegetables. By involving your kids, they'll be more likely to eat healthy foods, and they'll learn the basics of eating right. Start a little healthy competition in your family by tracking everyone's fruit and vegetable consumption as well as physical activity for a week. Use the tracking chart for every member of your family. Enter the number of daily vegetable and fruit servings and activity minutes each day. Total them up at the end of the week and see who ate the most and also included physical activity. Remember – five servings is the minimum, so strive for five to nine colorful fruits and vegetables!

Get Physically Active!

Regular physical activity is essential for your health. To decrease your risk of several chronic diseases, you should strive for at least 30 minutes of moderate-intensity physical activities on five or more days of the week or vigorous-intensity physical activities three or more days of the week for 20 minutes or more per session. While any physical activity is better than none, additional health benefits can be gained by engaging in more physical activity.

Quick Bites

- Try these tips and see how easy it is to eat five to nine a day. • Breakfast : Add your favorite fruit to cereal or yogurt. Drink a glass of 100% juice.
- Lunch: Pack a pita full of chopped veggies, have a salad, vegetable soup or fill a baggie with cut fruits and veggies to munch on.
- Snacks: Fill ice cube trays with 100% juice (put in toothpicks) and enjoy the mini-popsicles in no time.
- Dinner: Have two vegetables and a salad.

Health Benefits

Health benefits are gained by eating five to nine servings of fruits and vegetables each day and regular physical activity.

- Eating five to nine servings of fruits and vegetables a day may reduce your risk of some types of cancer and other chronic diseases. Substitute fruits and vegetables for high calorie, low nutrient foods.
- Regular physical activity helps decrease your risk for several chronic diseases, and also helps control your weight and reduce stress.

UT Southwestern doctors track Oklahoma Alzheimer's patients via telemedicine

Checking on Alzheimer's patients miles away is now as close as a simple satellite linkup.

Doctors in UT Southwestern Medical Center's Alzheimer's Disease Center are using telemedicine for follow-up appointments with patients within the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma. The Alzheimer's Disease Center is the only one in the country studying the clinical and scientific aspects of dementia in American Indians.

"After finding out that the Choctaw Nation had a videoconferencing setup, we thought this might be a better way to serve the population," said Dr. Myron Weiner, professor of psychiatry and neurology and a specialist in age-related dementia.

Dr. Weiner said this is the first time the Alzheimer's Disease Center at UT Southwestern has used telemedicine as a way of seeing patients for periodic checkups. It's also one of the first of 32 National Institutes of Health-funded Alzheimer's Disease Centers across the United States to use telemedicine.

The National Institute on Aging has funded research at UT Southwestern since 1991 - examining patterns of Alzheimer's disease and other forms of memory loss in American Indian populations. In one of these, patients are more than 200 miles away from their doctors.

"After the initial diagnosis is made, it is not necessary to have follow-up, face-to-face meetings with patients, which is why the telemedicine link has made it very efficient for us to track patients' progress. We think this is a model that other Alzheimer's Disease Centers could be able to use across the country," said Dr. Roger Rosenberg, director of UT Southwestern's Center, and holder of the Abe (Brunky),

Dr. Myron Weiner, professor of psychiatry and neurology at UT Southwestern, and colleagues are using telemedicine for follow-up appointments with Alzheimer's disease patients in the Choctaw Nation.

Morris and William Zale Distinguished Chair in Neurology.

UT Southwestern doctors visit Talihina, Oklahoma, four times a year to diagnose any new cases of Alzheimer's related memory loss or other types of dementia within the Choctaw community. Dr. Weiner first used the satellite link in January to see patients.

The health-care connection is made using equipment in Dallas linked to satellites located where patients in the Choctaw Nation live. Patients' family members bring them to one of the four locations including the primary memory disorders clinic in Talihina, Broken Bow, McAlester and Hugo.

"They can see me and I can see them," Dr. Weiner said of the teleconference linkup. "We can assess any side effects of psychotropic medications and get an estimate of disease progression."

Dr. Weiner, who holds the Aradine S. Ard Chair in Brain Science and the Dorothy L. and John P. Harbin Chair in Alzheimer's Disease Research at UT Southwestern, also conducts interviews with patients' caregivers to assess the progression of memory loss or other neurological deficits. For people suffering from dementia or other memory disorders, shortening travel time for checkups is another positive outcome of telemedicine, Dr. Weiner said.

Because of the three-hour travel time to the Choctaw Nation Health Care Center in Talihina, it had not been possible for UT Southwestern staff to see as many new patients or to follow patients as closely as they would like. Telemedicine reduces doctors' travel time and increases convenience for Choctaw tribal members because satellite hookups are available at several locations in southeastern Oklahoma.

In 2004, UT Southwestern received a grant from the National Alzheimer's Association to look at cardiac risk factors affecting Alzheimer's Disease in the American Indian community. Telemedicine is another way of using existing technology to increase research capabilities and reach more people.

CHRs pay recognition to director

The Choctaw Nation Community Health Representatives (CHRs) would like to say thank you to Berdie Williams and acknowledge Berdie as a top-notch direc-

As a director, all CHRs have an open line to her. She's available and prepared when they call on her. Whether it's a minor issue or a complex situation, she answers the call. Berdie has a superior ability to direct each of us personally. She never asks us to do anything she isn't willing to do herself. She is a supportive leader, keeping us going in the right direction while treating us with dignity as CHRs. If we trip and fall she picks us up in a stately manner and encourages us to continue. Berdie's qualities fall far beyond that of a director. She has:

- Good ear listens to our problems.
- Broad shoulders To lean on when we're discouraged.
- Stong Mind To meet whatever comes our way and continue on.
- Big Heart Has compassion and shows concern.
- Encouragement Gives us encouraging words to go out and do our best for all our Native American people in the communities.

We just wanted you to know you are one in a million in our eyes!

- identifying job/career choices
- strengths/weaknesses as an employee
- locating job sites
- completing job applications
- job interview techniques
- completing a resume
- job-keeping characteristics

Three participants completed the class and received certificates of completion for the Job Readiness Training – Hiawatha Jimenez of Idabel, Shirley Hardy of Wright City and Leslie Calderin of Broken Bow.

The PWI Program can assist many businesses that are looking for capable, dependable, and prescreened employees. If a business agrees to hire an individual through this program, the program will be able to reimburse for on-the-job training at 100 percent of the employee salary. The business is encouraged to retain the individual in permanent employment at the end of the training period. Businesses can also take advantage of federal tax credits of up to $4,000 per employee for employing Native Americans with a Certificate of Degree of Indian Blood (CDIB).

Fight bac! Keep family food safe

CLEAN: Wash hands, counters, and your table often and carefully. Bacteria that make you sick are invisible. Yet they can spread everywhere in your kitchen, then to the food your family eats.

• Make proper hand washing a family habit: before and after handling food, and after using the bathroom, changing diapers, and handling pets.

• Wash kitchen utensils and surfaces with hot, soapy water.

• Wash cutting boards and sponges in hot, soapy water each time they're used. (Don't use wooden cutting boards - they cannot be sanitized.)

• Clean with paper towels; toss them when you're done. Wash cloth towels often in the hot cycle of your washing machine.

SEPARATE: Harmful bacteria can spread from one food to • Keep raw meat, poultry, and fish wrapped in sealed containers or plastic bags, so the juices won't drip out.

• Wash anything (including your hands) that touch raw meat, poultry, or fish before using it with other food.

• Never put cooked food in the same plate or cutting board that held raw food – unless you wash

CHILL: Refrigerate food right

• Cold temperatures keep bacteria from growing and multiply-

• Make sure the refrigerator door closes. Check the temperature: the refrigerator should be below 40 degrees Fahrenheit; freezer - should be below 0 degrees Fahrenheit.

• Thaw frozen food in the refrigerator or microwave oven, not on the counter.

• Chill foods that spoil. Freeze or refrigerate leftovers and other of cooking.

· Put leftovers in small, shallow containers to cool faster. COOK: Cook food to a safe, proper temperature. · Use a clean meat thermometer to check:

- Cooked hamburgers: at least

- Whole, cooked chicken: 180 degrees

·Cook eggs until yolks and whites are firm.

• Cook fish until it's not shiny and it flakes easily with a fork.

• Be sure your microwaved food has no cold spots.

Native American families with small children benefited from a recent donation of diapers through the Au'Inca Door of Hope. Terry and Ramona Hill have focused many years of mission work to bettering the lives of elderly and youth. The diapers have been distributed to WIC participants with small children.

Injury and death caused by drunk driving are totally preventable

Driving while either intoxicated or drunk is dangerous and drivers with high blood alcohol content (BAC) are at increased risk of car accidents, highway injuries and vehicular deaths. Prevention measures evaluated include license suspension or revocation, impounding or confiscating vehicle plates, enforcing open container bans, increasing penalties such as fines or jail for drunk driving, mandating education for young people, and lowering legal BACs. Also discussed are safety seat belts, air bags, designated drivers, and effective practical ways to stay sober.

Every single injury and death caused by drunk driving is totally preventable. Unfortunately, over 20 percent of all traffic fatalities in the United States each year are caused by drunk drivers. Thus, drunk driving remains a serious national problem that tragically affects thousands of victims annually. It's easy to forget that dry statistics represent real people and real lives.

Most drivers who have had something to drink have low blood alcohol content or concentration (BAC) and few are involved in fatal crashes. On the other hand, while only a few drivers have BACs higher than .15, many of those drivers have fatal crashes.

- The average BAC among fatally injured drinking driv-
- Almost half of fatally injured drinking drivers have a BAC of .20 or over (which is twice the legal limit in most
- High BAC drivers tend to be male, aged 25-35, and have a history of DWI convictions and polydrug use.

Drunk driving, like most other social problems, resists simple solutions. However, there are a number of actions, each of which can contribute toward a reduction of the problem.

Tips for safe driving

- Use four-lane highways whenever
- possible. Avoid rural roads.
- Avoid travel after midnight (especially on Fridays and Saturdays)
- Drive defensively.
- Choose vehicles with airbags.
- Refer to safety ratings before selecting your next vehicle. See "Buying a Safer Car" (www.nhtsa.dot.gov/ cars/testing/NCAP). The website includes safety ratings of cars, vans, and sport utility vehicles by year, make, and model.
- Never use illegal drugs. Illicit drugs are involved in a large proportion of traffic fatalities.
- Never drive when fatigued. The dangers when fatigued are similar to those when intoxicated. A drunk or fatigued driver has slowed reactions and impaired judgment. And a driver who nods off at the wheel has no reactions and no judgment! Drivers who drift off cause about 72,500 injuries and deaths every year.
- Don't use a car phone, put on makeup, comb your hair, or eat while driving. Drivers using cellular phones are four times more likely to have an accident than other drivers.
- Steer clear of aggressive drivers. Aggressive drivers may be responsible for more deaths than drunk drivers.

Marine reservist accepts duty of second Iraq tour

By Ollie Reed Jr. Tribune Reporter

Among the Indian tribes of the northern Plains, Takes His Enemy Down is a warrior's name, a name given to someone tested and proven in battle.

In August 2003, during a Crow Indian ceremony in Montana, it was the name given to Albuquerque's Cephus Christie, who is part Crow and part Choctana.

More than 150 years ago, that name would have been bestowed on a young Crow man who had displayed his prowess in battles against the Sioux and the Blackfeet.

But it is equally appropriate today for Christie, a Marine lance corporal of Company D, 4th Reconnaissance Battalion, 4th Marine Division.

Christie, 22, is a veteran of the Iraq war, and, along with other members of 4th Recon, an Albuquerque-based Marine Reserve unit, he is preparing to return to Iraq - perhaps within the next few weeks.

Joe Christie says news that his son, who returned from the war safe in June 2003, would be going back into harm's way was deflating for the family.

"But my wife and I feel that freedom is not free, and someone has to go fight for it," Joe Christie says. "If that's me or my son, so be it."

He says his son feels the same

"Cephus wanted to finish his school, finish his reserve time and get on with his life," Joe Christie says. "But when he found out he was going back, there was no hesitation on his part."

That would not be the warrior's way.

Cephus Christie is among the more than 65 Marine reservists who left Albuquerque the second week in January and is not available for interview.

He and the other Albuquerque Marines are stationed in Twentynine Palms, Calif., where they are in training before going to Iraq.

When news of the unit's deployment was announced, officials said orders were for a year, but the stay overseas could double. For some, like Christie, it will be a return to fire.

"Marine policy was they would not send you back unless you volunteered, but I guess they changed that," Joe Christie

Joe, 59, an Oklahoma native, is Choctaw.

His wife, Stephanie Pretty-Weasel, 54, a native of Montana, is Crow.

Both are veterans of service with the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Joe, who served in a variety of administrative positions, is retired from the Bureau and runs a consulting service that works with Indian tribes and government agencies.

His wife is an administrator with the BIA's Office of Law Enforcement in Albuquerque. But when their son was ordered to Iraq the first time, she was working for the BIA in Aberdeen, S.D.

"I drove to Minneapolis and caught a plane to Albuquerque to spend a few days with him before he left," she says. "We went out to dinner, and I asked him about his job in the Marines. He said, 'Well, Mom, we go behind enemy lines.' I said, fights."

Cephus Christie's sisters, Katie, 19, and Sara, 16, still feel a little off balance about their brother's return to active duty.

They knew he was in danger his first time in Iraq but can't help but feel as if the perils are heightened the second time around.

"It's kind of scary," Katie adds.

Still, the thing that hits them hardest about their brother's absence is the quiet in their far Northeast Heights home.

"He would have his computer on, his TV on, his video game on - all at the same time," Katie says. "It was pretty loud around here."

Sara says it's strange to wake up on a Saturday morning and not have her brother around asking if she wants to go to Borders

They hope he has better luck getting these packages than the ones they sent him in 2003.

Joe laughs about that now.

"We sent him a lot of green chile, but those packages didn't catch up with him until he got back here," he says.

But things are different now. For one thing, communication with and deliveries to troops in Iraq are more dependable than they were in the early days of the war.

Another thing that's different is Cephus Christie himself.

"He seems to have matured, to be more willing to accept responsibility," his mother says. "This time around, he is a veteran of war. He is calmer, which makes me more at ease."

"If you go to Indian powwows, you'll see that one of the first things they always do is honor the veterans," Joe Christie says.

Joe, an Army veteran who served from 1967-71, is sitting in the living room of his handsome, beautifully kept home. His wife and daughters are nearby.

All around the family are hints of their heritage - baskets, a bronze of mounted Indian warrior, paintings with American Indian themes.

Joe says Cephus is an enrolled member of Stephanie's tribe, the Crow.

He says patriotism runs deep in most American Indian people, because they understand what it means to be free and - perhaps more to the point - what it means not to be free.

"We believe brown people have a right to live in a democracy," he says, "and those people in Iraq are the same color as American Indians."

He says he knows that Saddam Hussein and Iraq were not directly involved in the 2001 terrorists attacks in the United States.

"But Iraq was a breeding place for terrorism, and terrorism is a vile thing. Cephus understands

"We pray every day that our son and his comrades are not killed. But if he did get killed, I don't think it would stop his mother and me from supporting democracy for Iraq."

ten on the phone and sends letters to him in California. They are preparing to ship him care democra

Care package is appreciated Dear Choctaw Nation,

Thank you very much for the care package. Everything is much

They keep us very busy around here. We are on duty on average 13 1/2 to 14 hours a day and get one day off a week. Living conditions are, I suppose, as good or bad as would be expected in a war zone. Thank you again for the package.

SPC Russell Southard

Spec Cherylinda Perez

Air Force Spec Cherylinda M. Perez graduated January 17 from basic training in San Antonio, Texas. Congratulations and good luck as she begins her medical training at the Wichita Air Force Base in Wichita Falls, Texas. She has a son, Tony, and is the greaniece of the late Corporal Leroy McNoel.

Malone due back at Fort Hood

Dear Choctaw Nation,

My grandson, SPC Jimy Malone, and I want to thank you for the gifts and putting his address in the paper. He received a package from California due to his name being seen in the paper.

We want to thank the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma for all they do for our service men and women. Jimy is due back at Fort Hood the middle of March, having completed his tour of duty in Iraq.

May God bless each person who had a part in making his tour of duty have rays of sunshine.

Ramona J. Davis Malone

SGT Roger Springman

SGT Roger Springman, the grandson of original Choctaw enrollee Julia (Tecumseh) Springman, is serving in Iraq.

PFC Justin Garza

PFC Justin Garza, who is currently a senior at Stockdale High School in Bakersfield, California, graduated from Basic Infantry Training at Fort Benning, Georgia, on August 27, 2004. He will return to Fort Benning after he graduates from high school to complete his Advanced Infantry Training and then join his California Army National Guard Unit, the 3rd Battalion 160th Infantry Regiment. Justin is proud of his Choctaw heritage and honored to serve our country as his grandfather, George Kechi Wilemon, did during World War II.

Tribal members serving honorably

Dear Choctaw Nation,

As we draw close to the end of our tour in Iraq, I want to thank you for all of your support of not only the members of your tribe but also of all the soldiers of the 120th Engineer Battalion. Our Chaplain, CPT Fischer, has had the opportunity to visit our units at various operating bases to photograph the member(s) of your tribe.

We have had a successful tour in the fight against global terrorism and establishing democracy in Iraq. The members of your tribe have served honorably and you can be proud of their service. I am sure that you are as proud of them as I am and that you will honor them for their service once they return home.

We have some very good news about the inter-tribal powwow that you so willingly supported us in last September. We share in the honor of a request by the Smithsonian Institute to display the inter-tribal powwow artifacts as tribute to Native Americans serving in the military in Iraq. At this time, the Smithsonian is working with us on sending the artifacts back to the United States and we are working on a date to unveil the display.

Please accept my deepest expression of gratitude for your enduring support of the 120th Engineer Battalion throughout our deployment.

William Bartheld, LTC, EN, Commanding
